

Torah Portion Schedule

(compliments of Adot Adonai)

In effort to bring about collaboration and unity, we are providing this Scriptural reading plan so that we can have harmony within the assembly and for those brethren who join us via the internet on a weekly basis. The reading plan is set up so that any member of the body of messiah, no matter what vocation will have plenty of time to participate in this important endeavor. Daily Scripture reading is not an option for the believer and it is a must for those that are seeking spiritual growth. We therefore encourage all believers to follow a daily reading plan or study the scriptures per topic so that through YHWH's word you will be encouraged to lead a righteous life.

Although our assembly only keeps the festivals that are mentioned in Lev. 23, we recognize that brethren also observe holidays which are commonly called 'Jewish Holidays', Purim, Chanukah, etc. We therefore have also chosen to include a daily reading plan during the common days for those celebrations. We encourage all believers to become familiar with all of the holidays that have become a part of the Jewish history. Let us not forget however that the Holy Days which are mentioned in Leviticus 23 are not recommended they are commanded and thus established not by man, but by YHWH himself!
